Our Interests (104-123)

Us (124-215)

*The elation of victory, the gloom of defeat; a respect for intellect, an admiration for beauty or brawn—
these and other omnipresent contrasts pervade our ever-changing environment at GHS...*

In chatty clusters or timidly singular, apprehensive or confident, we are the students who converge in chaotic mass for September registration.

The conglomerate hub-bub of homeroom is frequently compounded by student salesmen with their bromidic chant, "Buy!"

With supervisors and assistants crisscrossing in a bustle of activity, the office and adjacent clinic serve as our school's nucleus of efficiency and decision

Our emotions reflect the atmosphere about us, whether of levity as we dawdle at the school store or of anxiety as we enter the guidance center to solicit counseling.

Surveying world literature, fundamental elements of grammar and composition, and dictates of successful oration—we explore multi-sided aspects of the English language.

*Language and history differ in the presentation of cultural concepts:
linguistics demand mimics;
history, minds that are aware, flexible, discriminating.*

*Reaching, often falteringly,
we attempt to grasp the intangible, axiomatic principles of science and math which formulate our tangible world*

Tomorrow's homemakers, employers, and employees—students perfect commercial and domestic skills in preparation for destined professions.

Whether daubing paint on a canvas or fashioning a product of utility, student craftsmen cultivate creativity through aesthetic and practical arts.

The cacophonous bell terminates pre-lunch activity, emptying classrooms as we elbow into a hungry throng, bee-lining to the parking lot or cafeteria

*We merge into a spectrum of animated prattle, flippant shrugs,
and crescent smiles as classes diffuse into interludes of socializing.*

A devotional hushes our chatter, a skit provokes rippling laughter, a guest speaker magnetizes our attention as a morning class is abandoned for our weekly assembly

*A raucous convention, days of rigorous campaigning,
frenzied registration, and decisive balloting comprise our whirlwind elections.*

Clad in shocking stockings or faded Levi's, chomping jawfuls of bubblegum, leaping into saucy sportscars or contorting wildly on the dance floor—we advocate the whimsical fads that pattern our adolescent years

*Open house—throbbing combo rhythms, Midwinter's—
 crepe-papered elegance, and the Prom—
 bittersweet reflections—our dances are anticipated events of our social whirl.*

With patriotic unity we infest the bleachers, ejecting the infectious fervor of school spirit as we parrot the syncopated cheers and applaud team triumph.

*Whether donning dungarees and sneakers to garden our prize-winning campus, or contributing our clownish antics toward funds and fun,
we donate time to service.*

A sun-drenched May Day transforms the campus lawn into a fantasy world as rosy-cheeked toys interests we pursue, patterns of activity.

ACTIVITIES

AT FALL 1964 induction ceremonies the following students were chosen as members of Torchlight: (kneeling) Stansbury, Weldon, Pearce, Early, Sauer, and Sain. Standing: Farlow, Mendenhall, Chostner, Bell, Cannon, Huffines, Frye, Bowman, Higley, Horney, Chambers, Wilkins, Price, and Wilson.

Torchlight inducts 44 in two impressive ceremonies,

TUTORING service provides lucid explanations for baffled algebra student

The oldest and most esteemed tradition at Grimsley was the Torchlight "tapping." Twice yearly a reverent student body assembled in the blackened auditorium to recognize those students deemed worthy of membership into the National Honor Society. Torchlight members exemplified those qualities which educational leaders lauded as most praiseworthy: a noble character; unselfish service to school, community, and fellow man; outstanding leadership traits; and scholastic achievement. During the bi-annual ceremonies, melodious background music was provided by the soft voices of the Girls' Chorus, accompanied by carefully-orchestrated violins creating a solemn rendition of the "Ave Maria." The old members, bearing candles and robed in white, moved about the hushed audience, selecting pupils for GHS' highest honor.

The Grimsley chapter of National Honor Society—dubbed Torchlight—participated in numerous diverse activities, in addition to organizing and executing the two tapping ceremonies. Regular meetings were offset occasionally by an inspirational dinner meeting, such as the one featuring Dr. Claude Bowen as guest speaker. April found the group producing an amusing and lucrative talent show, which provided funds for a $200 scholarship presented annually on Awards Day. However, Torchlight's most outstanding and most vitally-needed contribution to GHS was the student tutoring service. Originated by the society, together with Student Council, the service gave aid to pupils seeking help in any major subject.

ILLUSTRATED books allow Spanish enthusiasts to observe cultural tradition.

In the resonant strains of a foreign tongue, the Spanish Honor Society convened each bi-monthly conclave. Officially recognized in their adopted language as Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica, the group enjoyed a lively format of meetings. Lecturers such as Caralee Pruitt, who spoke about her recent Peace Corps experience in Ecuador, and others from Spanish-speaking countries highlighted many programs. At Christmas the Society staged a Spanish-style party, complete with a pinata. Climaxing the year's work, the group presented a $25 bond to the student who had maintained the highest average in Spanish courses throughout high school.

Elections, speakers interest History Honor Society

A year of national elections stimulated political interest among History Honor Society members. Concurrent with national affairs, several meetings were devoted to visits by representatives of both Republican and Democratic parties. The bi-monthly programs often featured as speakers local guests, well-travelled students, or members who had done research on history-related topics. To encourage student interest in current events, the society debated such controversial topics as federalism versus communism and provided the library with a daily subscription to the New York Times, a reference tool for all students.

LABORATORY reveals new way of understanding to fascinated Science Club members

Proof of the oft-quoted maxim that "Science can be fun" lies in the enterprising program of the Science Club. Aided by three altruistic faculty members, this active group spent several engrossing weekends observing the products of science at the State Science Fair, the Carolina Biological Supply Company, and the Health Careers Convention.

The club's regular bi-monthly meetings were enlivened by seminars at which members discussed topics ranging from the speed of light to interstellar space. Dr. Raymond Talley, local veterinarian, and Mr. Curtis Youngblood, a public relations executive from Southern Bell Telephone Company, highlighted two entertaining programs.

Medical Club observes merits of physics at Duke

From classroom lectures after school to weekend trips to Duke, Grimsley's Medical Club observed the multi-faceted aspects of medicine's intricate world. At Duke the students eyed with interest the inter-workings of the renowned medical center. In addition, various members of the group attended the Health Careers Convention in Winston-Salem, where they delved into the possibilities for future work in medical-related professions. Advising the organization's activities was Dr. Edward P. Benbow who contributed, together with the Greensboro Academy of Medicine, to the club's endeavors. Regular meetings most often revolved about talks by local doctors, who elaborated on their specialized fields.

Antique past, bustling present share JCL limelight

Last summer several members of GHS' Junior Classical League attended the National JCL convention and also visited the World's Fair. At JCL's first meeting these members told of their excursions. A later program limelighted newly inducted sophomores in Roman skits. Latin bingo and crossword puzzles were played at many club get-togethers.

An ancient holiday, Saturnalia, was celebrated at a pre-Christmas JCL meeting.

Debate Club polemics pervade state high schools

Perennial oratory flared across the state's myriad high school campuses as debate clubs sent their representatives to compete for honors and rewards. Participating with debate team members from 115 high schools, GHS' sixteen debators tempered keen competition with fine rhetorical wit. Finer points of debate tactics were re-impressed upon the team during a December workshop at Chapel Hill. Their efforts were climaxed with the Round Robin Tour, which commenced a series of successive debates during March. A week later the team travelled to the district meet. Final debates in Chapel Hill decided the North Carolina champions.

Playmasters enliven initiation with impromptu skits

CHOOSING a skit for the annual initiation banquet of the Playmasters, a festive covered dish supper, was held in the Home Economics building late in the fall. Three impromptu skits by the new members followed the dinner. Divided into groups, the initiates chose costumes from the Playmasters supply and in only five minutes had contrived a diminutive playlet. After the inventive performances, the "old" members considered the success of each performance as a basis for final acceptance of the performers into Playmasters.

Admissions qualifications for this organization had been met by accumulating 100 points in a variety of ways: by assuming a role in a play, such as the Junior Class production, by working on props, by helping with advertising, by painting scenery, and by selling tickets.

Most Playmasters took speech and drama, two courses that were particularly valuable to those who wished to develop their acting potential. The goal of many of the talented junior members was to be nominated as a candidate in drama for the Governor's School.

The drama group's major production during the year was One Foot in Heaven, which was given on April 1. As the final curtain descended, the players beamed with satisfaction, as they relished the applause earned by their painstaking preparations and polished performance.

In addition to their major production, some of the players competed in the annual Drama Festival. The one-act play they presented was "The Gypsy," and they gave it first in Charlotte on March 27. From Charlotte they took their production to Chapel Hill.

CIRCULATION manager Robertson delivers copies of High Life to her share of third period classes

Every two weeks mass confusion reigned in the High Life room as another copy of the newspaper was "put to bed." When Editor-in-Chief Jane Turpin barked orders, Managing Editor John Giles quaked in size-11 "boots" and rushed to do her bidding. After the staff had haggled for days over the editorials they wished to include in the forthcoming paper, Jane dished out assignments. As Friday deadlines neared, the Page Editors enjoyed daily races for one of the two typewriters. A duet of frantic key-clicking immediately commenced as articles were polished for printing.

As News Editor Fran Upchurch beat her head against the filing cabinet when she discovered a fourteen-inch hole on the front page, Review Editor Mary Ann Mitchell looked forward to interviewing famous visiting performers. While Sports Editor Paula Main spent grueling hours searching for a scandal to uncover in her notorious "Whirlie Words," Business Manager Ann McSwain and Advertising Manager Diane Robertson sat knee-deep in outgoing bills, scribbling countless statements to sponsoring advertisers.

The Feature Section constituted the most popular section of the newspaper. Chatting with Emily Stake during one of her "rare" visits was a delight to Feature Editor Sue Billman and company. Amidst all the confusion the High Life camera bug Ralph Beaver scampered about, snapping bird's-eye-view pictures of Grimsley life. Ever-patient advisor Mrs. Peggy K. Woodlief leaned back and chuckled merrily at the sight of so much chaos.

Fifteenth All-American spurs Whirligig staff effort

CO EDITORS Susan Stansbury and Marianne Buie, with Advisor Miss Powell shuffle through a vast assortment of pictures to select one for a strategic layout.

With a flutter of thesaurus page-turning, pell-mell typewriter pecking, dummy layout erasing and resketching, helter skelter picture taking, and avid ad selling, the Whirligig staff launched a chaotic semester of yearbook production. Under the dual direction of Co-editors Susan Stansbury and Marianne Buie and watchful eye of faithful advisor Miss Virginia Powell, Whirligig workers, in the spring of the previous year, had concocted plans for the '65 campus best-seller. Staff jobs were distributed, and a joint-editorship proved an efficient method of breaking up the responsibilities. Susan toted the bulging dummy about, laboring over picture cropping. Marianne prodded the writers, shuffling their literary creations among her myriad folders for later revision.

With September's coming the staff scattered into beehive bustlings. Tim Weikel and his assistant, Joyce Robinson, organized ad and sponsorship selling campaigns, while Kathy Zimmerman collaborated with trusty photographer Mr. Miller, scheduling harrowing "picture days" for photographing campus life. With the position of staff photographer vacant, John Wyatt chivalrously assumed the role of "camera bug" and dashed about, snapping shots to fill book space that otherwise might have remained blank. Billie Chambers compiled the faculty section while Janine Webster struggled to complete the index, Jerry Chostner and Tommy Cannon mounted the many faces of GHS class editors arranged and rearranged their sections, and John Giles tackled the sports story.

As the February 19 deadline impelled the staff toward a frenzied finish, activity in V-61 became a bit hectic: "Let's bleed that boy's head into the gutter." . . . "We'll have to crop off the legs." . . . "Toss out that head." Such menacing threats, however, were not spoken out of desperate malice. They were merely a sampling of the jargon used by the staff as, inspired by last year's fifteenth All-American, they aimed toward producing another superlative yearbook. Finally the glorious day of the dummy's departure arrived. It's anyone's guess which member of the staff sighed most ecstatically as the last of Whirligig '65 was bundled off to Charlotte for printing.

Student publications thrive on work, spirit, support

READING the latest issue of High Life is much more important than getting to fourth period less or more.

Lettered football heroes, horn-rimmed bookworms, "Villagered" coquettes — en masse the students of GHS poked inquisitive noses into the bi-monthly chit-chat of High Life and the annual picture album, Whirligig. Glibly the student body criticized or praised these publications, which had been so tirelessly produced by dedicated editors, writers, photographers, ad salesmen, and advisors. On the other hand the concoctors of Grimsley's literary creations gobbled up the honors heaped upon their prize-winning works. Blissfully unaware of imminent deadlines that were integral parts of a production's success, readers enthusiastically read and enjoyed GHS' best literature.

With movies, visiting speakers, and wide reading, C. O. P. students became well-informed about the business world they inhabited each afternoon and their part in it. They learned many things about the activities and trends in the businesses, about the preparation and filing of income tax forms, and about the preferred ways of making contacts for jobs.

More informal meetings of the group often revolved around dinner, at which parents sometimes joined them to discuss the common goals of employers and employees. At one meeting they heard the National Secretary of C.O.P. present her views on the values of their organization.

In regular business and social meetings they planned projects, then worked wholeheartedly to carry them out. They were especially happy over their bountiful Christmas donation of food and gifts to a needy family.

Distributive Education

Twelve o'clock signalled the departure of a diversified group of students from GHS into the business world. They took with them superlatives of confidence and leadership which are representative of the Distributive Educational program. Part of a national organization, the DE Club selected members to attend local, state, and national conventions and sponsored a District Officer Training Workshop in October. During the week of November 8, the club observed National DECA Week concurrently with National Education Week. An assembly program staged by DE members near the year's end promoted understanding of Grimsley's vocational program. To finance DE activities the students conducted a continuous candy sale.

The DE program melded multi-talented, ambitious students into a purposeful unit. Employees of thirty-four Greensboro firms, DE participants combined education with career, keeping an eye on the future.

The New York trip, financed by band concert ticket sales, transported the young musicians to the Fair via Washington, D. C., where they played a concert within view of the famous eternal flame which marks John Kennedy's grave. Their New York travels proving to be so enjoyable and concert-touring in their blood, the band students eagerly began second semester to plan another summer excursion to tropical Daytona Beach and Nassau.

MAJORETTES, headed by Shore, are Crawford, Martin, and Frick

Music was not limited to the Symphonic Band. Students at football games hardly denied the existence of an off-beat super-enthusiastic pep band pealing out a spirited "Hello, Dolly!" Halftime shows utilized the talents of all musicians, whose music set the stage for their figurative formations, baton twirling majorettes, and the color guard. In addition, the marching band blended its harmony with the tones of the less formal pep band.

A third group of players — supplying members to both the pep and marching bands—comprised the concert band. These music-makers were primarily sophomores, hoping to eventually merit a Symphonic Band position.

On February 23 the Orchestra played a chamber concert for Greensboro Euterpe Club; on April 5, a program for the North Carolina Orchestra Festival; and later, two joint concerts with the High Point High School Orchestra. Twenty members performed in the All-State Orchestra at Boone, taking five first places. To end the year, senior members were honored by a Concerto Night in May.

MUSIC for 1964 Senior Tea was furnished by members of the Orchestra, directed by Mr. Harriman.

Glee clubs offer inspiring music at solemn functions

Grimsley's dynamic vocal department participated in numerous school programs this year. The Advanced Girls' Chorus sang the impressive "Ave Maria" for bi-annual Torchlight tappings, and at Christmas the choruses and Choir supplied music for the Senior Pageant. In June the Choir performed in both Baccalaureate and Graduation ceremonies.

The ultimate goal of all chorus members was to be selected for an "elite" choir position. Working toward fulfilling this ambition, the boys' and girls' choruses dedicated spring efforts to preparing for the State Contest. Consequently, the groups were judged among the best, a rating which reflected their dedication, skill, and fine direction.

MR. DECKER plays an original composition by David Hinz while several Guild members listen.

The Greensboro Orchestra Guild was, for the most part, a merging of students from our school's various music departments. Aiming to cultivate appreciation for classical music, the Guild encouraged concert attendance of all members. Mr. Herbert Hazelman and Mr. James Decker, talented musicians themselves, served as the group's advisors, lending freely their musical knowledge to promote among Guild members a more thorough understanding of symphonic production.

On a city-wide scale, Grimsley's Orchestra Guild aided the Greensboro Symphony and the Greensboro Little Symphony by participating in early fall publicity campaigns. Guild members also ushered at the Greensboro Symphony's eight concert performances which were held throughout the year.

The Library Council, composed of industrious student workers supervised by Miss Mildred Herring and Mrs. June Bleakley, worked toward improving the organization of reference materials. Performing such vitally necessary tasks as arranging the books on the shelves and keeping accurate records of circulation, the library assistants, by donating one hour per day to their jobs, provided an invaluable service to both the hard-working students and the faculty.

Under the direction of Misses Causey and Mitchell, the Future Teachers of America were invaluable to GHS. One of the largest groups at Grimsley, the prospective teachers' club aided the faculty with such tasks as filing data, typing and mimeographing material, and preparing colorful bulletin boards. The group also acted as marshals for the district meeting of the North Carolina Education Association last fall. To honor teachers and mothers of FTA members, a reception was held in December at UNC-G. And in May the Greensboro chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma presented a $200 scholarship to a deserving FTA member.

Omnipresent in the hum-drum of school activity were the myriad students who volunteered to assist in the management of GHS. Such a task demanded the fulfillment of sundry errands. The Dean's assistants checked on absentees, "liberated" students from classes with "call slips," and answered the ever-ringing Clinic phone. Main office helpers performed similar "odd jobs" for Mrs. Coltrane and Mr. Routh. Efficient "book room" boys checked out textbooks for issuance to students. Guidance Center workers catalogued college bulletins and kept accurate appointment calendars. School supplies were sold by school store assistants, while "behind the scenes" of auditorium programs, the stage crew was busy with technical arrangements and scenery set-ups.

18 GHS Bus Drivers show patience and competence

As traditional as "blue-and-white days," Homecoming, and Whirligig are those Halloween-orange-and-black vehicles — the school buses. What was not so traditional was feminine bus drivers, for Grimsley was the first school in Greensboro to employ girls to drive the unwieldy buses.

Each bus traveled monthly over six hundred miles throughout Greensboro, maneuvered competently by eighteen cautious and constantly harassed drivers — fifteen boys and three girls. Every day students were transported to GHS, to four elementary and to two junior high schools in this district, each bus carrying approximately sixty-seven pupils per trip. Incidentally, this school bus system, one of the few such transportation systems in North Carolina, costs local taxpayers about five cents per mile.

The drivers were trained by representatives of the State Highway Patrol. Two very strict tests were required—one on book work, the other in practical driving.

The upper-classmen who so gallantly alleviated corridor congestion during class changing constituted Grimsley's traffic squad. Directing wide-eyed sophomores through the "maze" of GHS halls and abating student stampedes, squad members channeled the masses through specified "in" and "out" doors, "up" and "down" stairs. On wet days squad duties were manifold as student herds jammed doorways and stairways to avoid outdoor routes. Patience was truly a virtue as the 30 seniors attempted to overcome chaos by effecting ingenious traffic signals, shouting and whistling to urge students onward. Rendering an important service to GHS, the traffic squad, supervised by Chief Ben McMakin, efficiently controlled mob movement.

PEP BOARD works diligently to publicize GHS activities.

Pep Board projects bolster blue-and-white loyalty

Eye-catching banners designed by artistic Pep Board members bedecked GHS halls throughout the year, advocating school spirit. Hilarious assembly skits, dramatized by Pep Board "hams," encouraged game attendance; and Twirp Day became a tradition this year as once again the Board sponsored a day of "gentlemen first."

The Board planned numerous pep antics for our football contest with cross-town rivals, the Page Pirates. One ludicrous project displayed a coffin filled with a Pirate dummy, symbolic of the victory we were to win. Led by Chairman Buddy Powell, the spirit-boosters endeavored to make school patriotism an integral trait of GHS.

September heralded the first stirrings of the Youth Recreation Council, perennial rousers of school spirit. During the ensuing fall, the group concocted ideas for the autumn Homecoming Dance. In collaboration with various service clubs, the council took part in Greensboro's third Teen-Age Carnival, held at the Friendly Shopping Center.

Many winter Friday afternoons found sponsoring YRC members atop ladders, crepe-papering the Girls' Gym for open houses. The Council labored over decorating a float to enter in the downtown Christmas parade. Their efforts were rewarded, for the float was a prize-winner.

Goggle-eyed sophomores gazed grimly at Grimsley, but soon felt their anxiety eased as they were guided by neighborly Student Council members through a well-organized orientation program. Their pangs of uneasiness assuaged, the new students grew accustomed to GHS with its bi-monthly home-room reports from members of the student government. No sooner were the incoming pupils settled than the Council-sponsored sophomore elections thrust them into a bustle of rigorous campaigning. A pint-sized version of the school-wide spring voting, the fall contest helped to create a homogeneous student body by calling for sophomore participation.

Assisting campus "newcomers" was a fraction of the mammoth program the GHS student group enacted. Bolstering school pep, they held a hearty dinner for the football team, smoothly executed the spirited Homecoming festivities, and concocted ingenious "blue-and-white" days during the basketball season. Twirp Day, now a tradition, received the whole-hearted support of the council, especially of the boys. To break the tension of mid-term testing, they presented a Mardi Gras, the lavishly colorful Midwinter's Dance. Campus pep rousers — the confetti-contributors, flag-bliars, costumed Whirlibirds, program-peddlers, award-presenters — were service club members. GHS' caretakers — the trophy-polishers, desk-waxers, board-scrubbers, parking-lot-cleaners, stadium-sweepers, interior decorators — were service club members.

All students benefited from the omnipresent contributions of Grimsley's thirteen service clubs. Concerned with improving their school and community, the clubs participated in fund-raising projects to finance their perpetual activities.

Successful projects become habit with Charioteers

A menagerie of fierce-looking animals and a submissive pirate growled from behind the restraining bars of a GHS mock-prison. For this ingenious display of school spirit, the Charioteers won first place in the newly-innovated Homecoming Display contest. Always planning and organizing for new community and school projects, the 35 girls met bi-monthly on Wednesday evenings. In the spirit of GHS patriotism, the club members tied streamers to each car in the parking lot before home games. Contributing to grove greenery, they maintained a large planter; and to accommodate the teachers, the Charioteers undertook the re-decoration of the teachers' lounge.

An international flavor seasoned activities of the Interact Club, which sponsored a second foreign exchange student. He soon found that whatever bewilderment he had felt was offset by the friendliness of his club "brothers."

Once accustomed to the bustle of GHS society, the exchange student pitched into club affairs, working side-by-side with Interact members on their yearly projects. An erosion wall, engineered by the boys themselves, was completed in November and was soon accented by a towering sign bearing the school's name. Contributing to the community, the club participated in numerous charity drives throughout the year. Other Interact services were financed through a successful campaign of selling GHS emblems.

Fruitcakes, devotions synonymous with Civinettes

"Fruitcake" was an all-too-familiar word to the Junior Civinette who tried to surpass her goal of selling 60 pounds of the Claxton confection. The sale, however, earned money to buy library supplies and hall benches.

Civinettes gave as generously of themselves as they did of their treasury. Friday afternoons found Civinettes industriously washing chalk trays and blackboards, and on sleepy Saturday mornings members donned faded jeans to weed and trim the Civinette rose garden. In addition, Monday morning apathy was interrupted by an inspirational devotion given during homeroom by a Civinette over the PA system.

Civitan gift of speaker system amplifies school spirit

Baffled by the "absence" of a three-story science building, sophomores pored over Civitan handbooks, designed to acquaint them with the campus. Underlings soon melded into GHS society, adding their yells to those of the cheerleaders, whose voices were amplified by a speaker system — gift of the Civitans. This club further served GHS by caring for grove gardens and presenting the Ben L. Smith Award. Rounding out their projects, the boys conducted Indulging in moments of relaxation, the Civitans appeared on "US," planned an old-fashioned hayride, and organized a Christmas party at Sedgefield. Further exemplifying the group's fraternal attitude, the boys supported Lo Lai Sang, a Hong Kong orphan, with quarterly club donations.

Exchangettes' Teacher Fund reaps faculty praise

EXCHANGETTES discuss service projects with their advisor Mrs. Griffin, who holds a $100 check they are about to donate to a fund for teaching supplies.

When teachers despaired because of the inadequacies of their stuffed file cabinets, they looked hopefully toward the Junior Exchangettes' well-stocked Teachers' Fund. Providing the faculty with urgently needed classroom materials, the Fund was raised by the club's annual talent show which utilized the wit and imagination of all members. Exchangette community service materialized as an extensive Muscular Dystrophy drive, which was highlighted by a festive Christmas party for afflicted children. In addition to humanitarian projects, the girls demonstrated GHS patriotism with the erection of a Homecoming Whirlwind display on the front lawn and active participation in the campus clean-up campaign.

Jr. Exchange donations range from paper to plaque

A blue blizzard of paper tossed into the air by a spirited student assemblage fluttered earthward to herald the 1965 Homecoming game. The confetti — traditional at Homecoming — was donated by Grimsley's Junior Exchange Club, completing in 1965 its fifth year of consistently active service. The Club members spent long hours collecting for various charity drives, and coupled their community work with contributions to the school. Dotting the newly paved parking lot were easily accessible trash cans, which were installed by the Exchange Club to promote the immaculate upkeep of GHS parking facilities. In addition, the Club presented an annually given plaque to recognize the homeroom represented by the highest student attendance at the Page-Grimsley football game.

WAXING DESKS. Junior Jaycettes provide a welcomed service for teachers and students.

JUNIOR JAYCETTES "buddy up" to help bewildered sophomores caught in September's confusing schedule.

Overwhelmed by a conglomeration of new fears and perplexities about GHS, bewildered sophomores and transfer students heartily welcomed and fully endorsed the "buddy system" — initiated by the Junior Jaycettes and Student Council. Teachers too eagerly greeted the Jaycettes, who became desk-waxers once a month.

Even the guidance center felt the presence of club members, who diligently took on odd jobs. With school and community spirit, the industrious group labored over their grove garden and collected for city-wide charities. Finally, a most enjoyable fund-raising project in which the girls participated was the annual GGO ticket-selling campaign.

Spotlighting activities in which GHS was to participate, a highly useful bulletin board was placed in the main hall, compliments of the Junior Jaycees. The club also placed blue and white mats before school doors as mud catchers for messy days. Encouraging interest in athletics, the 31 boys sponsored the "Whirlie-of-the-Week" award, the devilish "Name-the-Whirlbird" contest, and the Roger Hobbs Awards Day trophy.

With the onset of the 1964-65 school year, the group organized plans for Polio and White Cane drives. Projects proposed at their bi-monthly meetings included further upkeep of GHS lawn greenery and repairing the front door lighting fixtures of the main building. Highlighting the girls' participation in intramural sports was a first place won in volleyball competition.

Participation in the Easter Seals drive, a contribution to the Golden Door, and gifts of clothing to needy families at Christmas offered other opportunities for service. Advisors of the club were Mrs. Harry D. Kellett and Mrs. Garland Murray.

Again praise was lavished on this service group for its production and distribution of the student directory — vitally necessary for speedy telephoning.

GIFTS galore from Seniorettes will fill empty Christmas stockings for underprivileged children.

When the students at Central's school for retarded children ogled a treasure chest jammed with presents and inquisitively examined a colorful bulletin board, they were warmly acknowledging the generosity of the Seniorettes. The service club's spirited thoughtfulness was not limited to Greensboro alone, for the group also supported the Golden Door in Morganton. Money for furnishing a home economics room was obtained from a Seniorette-supervised bridge party given at the Women's Club. Alternating business meetings with tasty dinner programs, the girls planned participation in School Beautiful and the Teen-Age Carnival. Service was offset by mixed get-togethers as Seniorettes appeared with dates on "US" and at their February social.

Sub-Juniors carry out many practical objectives

With service to Greensboro and GHS a dual objective, the Sub-Junior Woman's Club launched an active year, distributing a Newsletter publication to the Children's Home Society. The girls also filled empty stockings at Christmas and donated to the Golden Door, providing toys for needy children.

To advertise for the Woman's Club Bazaar, the girls utilized their creativity in designing posters for the event. Most of their time was consumed by candy selling — a fund-raising project that reaped proceeds they used to decorate the home economics conference room.

New FHA Club passes tests for beauty and taste

As timely and functional as the Home Economics building where their meetings were held was the newly organized Future Homemakers of America Club. It had an uncertain start last year, but under the enthusiastic guidance of their new advisor, Miss Elizabeth Phillips, the FHA members really got under way. They made flower arrangements, explored interior design, made seasonal favors and decorations. At Christmas, for instance, they created pretty and delicious favors for the faculty and for children in hospitals. Then a bake sale in March subjected their cooking capabilities to a true taste-test and proceeds provided a useful appliance for the home economics classes

Hi-Y initiates program to keep new parking lot clean

Whether facing the iciness of winter or the balminess of spring, the Hi-Y Philomathians experienced the rigors of incessant walking in their volunteer program of keeping the parking lot clean. It was a role typical of the activities of the 31 advocates of school and community service. Keeping pace with the changing times, the boys' club also distributed card calendars to the student body as they began the new year. Under the auspices of the YMCA, they devoted much time to delivering Thanksgiving baskets and giving a Christmas party for Greensboro orphans. Finally, in conjunction with School Beautiful, they enhanced the appearance of the northeast campus corner.

Cheerleaders' perpetual enthusiasm stimulates spirit

JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS are Head Cheerleader Pauline — Cochran — Murray, White — Dancer

On frost-crisp Friday nights at the football stadium or under the glaring lights reflected in the mirror-like gymnasium floor, the cheerleaders were spirited advocates of GHS esteem. Stimulating campus patriotism, these dynamos of pep pealed in voluminous unison and provoked with dizzying cartwheels the pride-fortified yells of exuberantly enthusiastic spectators. Chorusing "G-R-I-M-S-L-E-Y!" with ambivalent emotions, the crowds were led by the blue and white clad cheering squad. Always the Whirlie supporters were a unit, deflated yet loyal in defeat, jubilant when the team "pounded," "stunned," "lashed," or "buried" the enemy.

The Monogram Club, headed by President Don Dunn, strove to take an active part in promoting all Grimsley sports. By encouraging top school spirit and attendance at all sporting events, the Monogram Club achieved its purpose.

To be a member of this club, one had to earn a letter in at least one sport. With Bob Sawyer as its advisor, meetings were held twice a month on Monday night at the school.

In addition to selling "mum" corsages for the homecoming spectacle, the boys also sold blue and white "T" shirts. They also helped to recondition the tennis courts.

Whirlie defense earns number one ranking in state

COACH faces no argument is one of the results of cutting COACH success.

Versatility and having the distinction of being the state's best defensive team accounted for a successful football season in which the Whirlies were victorious in seven games. Three times the Whirlies fell, but it can be said that only two costly fumbles within the five-yard line, plus a disastrous end-zone interception kept the Whirls from compiling a perfect 10-0 record.

The season's outlook was very much in doubt, early last September, as an inexperienced band of Whirlies traveled to State's Riddick Stadium to play Raleigh. The team, fired up by enthusiastic stand support, however, rolled to a convincing 10-0 triumph, which was climaxed by Hartig's 40-yard field goal. They had plenty of desire that night — an indication of what was to come.

The home opener came with East Forsyth, and the highly touted Eagles fell 27-7. Maynor and Leonard never looked better as they ran at will during most of the game. Then Skipper Garner starred at Fayetteville as the Blue and White eked out a thrilling win over the previously unbeaten Bulldogs. Garner, snagging a Dempsey pass, went over for the tying touchdown, seconds before the final gun. Larry Finlen calmly booted the extra point for the final 7-6 margin.

Determined Whirlie gridgers roll to final 7-3 mark

At Burlington, drive after drive was halted by the surprising Bulldog line. The Whirlies fell behind early and never caught up as Wililams handed Grimsley its first loss 6-0.

Following a sluggish 20-6 victory over outclassed Gray, the Whirlies prepared to battle league-leading Lexington at the Jacket homegrounds. Both teams never quit until Frank Leonard intercepted a threatening Yellow Jacket pass at the goal-line, preserving a precarious 14-12 lead.

Salisbury became the next victim, and to some 4,000 Homecoming fans, the contest was never in doubt. Boyden lost 42-6. State championship fever was evident at GHS as the Whirlies next invaded High Point. But the Bison, in the midst of a disappointing year, rose up and smacked the Whirlies 7-6. Repeated drives were halted in the shadow of the High Point goal as numerous mistakes proved decisive. Despite the upset, a play-off spot could still be obtained. Reynolds came to town and after a tremendous defensive struggle, the Demons came out victorious 7-0.

With all hopes of a post-season position gone, the Whirls took on cross-town rival Page with the City Championship at stake. After falling behind 0-7, the Boys in Blue roared back; and with thirty seconds showing on the clock, Whirlie fans began yelling "We're Number One!" They were just that, as Page fell 12-7.

JV's compile 6-2-1 record

The Junior Varsity Whirlies, under the direction of Coaches John Hickey, David Murr, and Ken Umberger, finished the season with a final record of 6 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie.

East Forsyth, Salisbury, Reynolds, Gray, Smith, and Page fell victim to the Whirlie yearlings, while Burlington and Lexington pulled surprises in taking narrow victories. High Point held the Whirlies scoreless in gaining a 0-0 tie.

Boys such as Dean Brewer, Johnny Sparrow, Julius Dees, Mike Gagliardi, Eddie Harrison, George Stanton, and Dan Linker will be a tremendous boost to next year's varsity prospects. With these boys returning, Whirlie fans can expect another banner year.

Balance key factor in Whirlies' overall 18-4 record

A well-balanced scoring attack, featuring Larry Dempsey's average of 18 points a game, proved to be momentous for the 1965 Whirlie cagers. The starting line-up besides Dempsey consisted of Bob Albright (11 points per game), Skip Garner (9), Ben McMakin and John McNairy (6). Max Wilson, referred to by many as the team "spark-plug," and Joe Howard were top reserves.

Raleigh opened the season and the Whirls managed to sneak off with a 70-59 win. Following run-away wins over Lynchburg and Westminster of Atlanta, the Whirlies took on Raleigh for a second time. The upset-minded Caps almost defeated Grimsley — the Boys in Blue having to rally from 8 points behind midway in the fourth period to emerge victorious 72-71 in three overtimes. Lynchburg dealt the Whirlies their first blow of the year as they obtained a deep-freeze 39-23 victory, snapping the defending champs' 19-game win streak.

FANS: Coach G. H. H. picked Grimsley as the Whirlies took a 62-47 decision over Page.

Whirlie 4-A Title hopes are shattered by Fayetteville with Williams High of Burlington. The fired-up Whirlies whirled the Dogs off the court in breezing to an easy 82-57 victory. With that win, the Whirls vaulted into a first-place tie with Burlington — a play-off practically imminent. However, on the last night of regular season the Whirls came from behind to defeat a stubborn High Point five, a team which the Whirls had easily handled two nights before. By winning, Grimsley captured the conference title and top seeding in the tournament.

High-flying East Mecklenburg became the Whirlies' first-round opponent and, for the Eagles, defeat came. The Whirls never looked better in sweeping to a 69-46 win.

Fayetteville, with 6'11" Rusty Clark, became the cagers' semifinal foe and many viewed this game as the State Championship. The Blue and White, despite hitting a respectable 52% in the second half, failed to halt Clark and Company as Fayetteville stunned GHS 72-59, eliminating hope for a second straight state championship.

In a consolation affair, Rocky Mount proved to be no competition as the Blue won 52-42, Dempsey getting 29 big points for a record 75 in the Tournament. With that win the Whirlies closed out a tremendous season — winning 18, losing 4.

The Whirlie grapplers, directed by Coach Yates, did not experience their usual powerhouse year but they did provide much excitement in compiling an overall 4-9 mark.

A highlight of the year was in the team's victory over Page, 35-14. It was sweet revenge for the Whirls who had earlier lost to the Pirates by a 30-17 count. Other wins came over Gray and Lexington. In the Sectionals at Salisbury, Grimsley finished seventh with 21½ points.

Kent Cobb, a 120-pound senior, was the only Grimsley matman to advance to the state finals at Boone. Cobb, however, was unsuccessful in his bid for an individual state championship.

Other standouts included Charlie Apple, Perry Benbow, John Foy, Mike Justice, Rick Markham, Bob Strickland, and Chuck Watkins. They won numerous matches to keep the Whirls in contention most of the time.

Tankers wallop Myers Park for State Swim Title

A TREMENDOUS struggle between Grimsley and Myers Park ended in a decisive Whirlie victory which snapped the Seahorses' winning streak of 64 straight dual meets.

It took the Whirlie tankers eight long years to recapture the State Swim Championship, but victory finally came, as the Whirlies walloped Myers Park 79-58. Tom Acree won a first place in the 100 freestyle with a state record time of 1:08, while the medley relay team, composed of Burnett, Smith, Craven, and Finn, posted a record time of 1:47.5.

In addition to winning state laurels, the Whirls also swept the Central Crown, crushing second-place Reynolds. The team finished with a 10-3 record, including another win over Myers Park, snapping their 64 dual meet win streak.

Boys contributing to the Whirlie success were Bernard, Dewey, Lindley, Patterson, and Quinn. They broke many records on their way to aid in bringing Grimsley another State Title.

Netters experience few victories, high enthusiasm

The tennis team, coached by Frank Bonda-nella, experienced an unpredictable year, their good and bad days equally balanced. Ace Ed McLean led the netters to an over-all record of 5 wins and 8 losses. Though the wins were few, enthusiasm was high. Despite its midseason slump, the team rallied to take the last two matches over an outclassed Oak Ridge team. Jimmy Wilkins, Ken Bell, Almon Fussell, and Jerry Chostner all re-turned to boost the 1965 outlook.

Whirlie nine defeats Wilmington for State Crown

The Whirlie baseball team, disconcerted by last year's second place conference finish, rebounded to recapture the Central 4-A Championship for the sixth time in seven years. To add to their conference title, the team advanced a step farther and defeated Wilmington here for the State Crown.

With an overall record of 16 wins and 2 losses, the diamondmen were seldom pressed. Losses came from High Point and Wilmington. Ironically, star pitcher Alex Cheek hurled a no-hitter during the Bison game, but fielders' errors and a lack of hitting paved the way for the downfall, as the Whirls lost 2-1.

Following the regular season, the Wildcats of Garinger fell victim to the Blue and White by a 3-2 margin in the state semifinals. This set the stage for the state championship duel with another band of Wildcats from Wilmington.

After dropping the first game in the best-of-three series 1-0, the team quickly regained their needed confidence to demolish the 'Cats 12-7 and 5-0, the latter coming on a no-hitter by Cheek. An ability to combine topnotch pitching with timely hitting proved to be most decisive for the Whirlies as they regained their number-one position.

Whirlie golfers edge Boone for State Championship

EXPERIENCED golfers of the Whirlie team captured the state title by edging Boone 591-604.

Experience is the key word describing the 1964 Whirlie golfers. With many returning lettermen from last year's state championship crew, the team captured its second straight state crown by edging runner-up Boone, 591-604.

Buzz Sawyer, who finished third in the state as an individual, Charles Snipes, Joe Inman, Howard Permar, David Williams, Mike Schlueter, Drayton Stott, Gary Core, and John Long contributed to the Whirlie success. In addition to capturing the state title, the linkmen also added a Central 4-A Championship. On the final day of regular season, Inman, Sawyer, Permar, and Snipes wrecked the Starmount Course and fired an overall aggregate of 266—18 under par—to completely demolish second-place Winston-Salem Reynolds.

Though the 1964 track team failed to repeat as Central Conference champions, they did sweep Sectional honors and placed well in the State Track Meet held in Raleigh

The Whirlie cindermen started slow. In fact, their first two meets resulted in defeats by Durham and Salisbury. However, the team was not to be denied as they regrouped themselves in time for the sectionals, which could be classified as the main highlight of the season.

Earlier during the year, Reynolds had edged the Whirls for conference honors. The boys in Blue failed to believe that, for they captured the last four events to take a narrow 32-29 win over the favored Black Demons.

The winning mile relay, aiding the Sectional win, was composed of Bill Mitchell, Reuben Crabtree, Frank Leonard, and Paul Early. They were seldom pressed as they raced to numerous victories.

GAA gives girls a well-rounded sports program

The Girls' Athletic Association, commonly known as the GAA, produced a well-balanced program for all girls interested in athletics. Sports such as speedball, volleyball, track, basketball, and softball were included.

The GAA sold GHS sweat shirts as their project. Also, in the Teen-Age Carnival they sponsored a booth, which proved to be a financial success.

Striving for a physically-fit body, the girls' physical education classes combined fun with recreation. Along with seasonal sports, health and first aid were also taught. In such courses girls achieved knowledge of life-saving techniques and proper hygiene.

SUPERINTENDENT Philip J. Weaver finds few moments of leisure in his busy schedule of directing Greensboro schools.

Along with the back-to-school pilgrimage of GHS students came the realization of the long anticipated paved parking lot and two new entrances to the campus. This was not the only way the school board helped to improve the appearance of Grimsley, however, for at other times during the year the city schools' maintenance department worked to enhance the beauty of our campus. Especially important were the tree trimmers, who pruned the trees and shrubbery on the front lawn.

In addition to these services, the school board exercised its authority in granting permission for trips such as those made by the band, choir, orchestra, and many smaller groups of delegates to state conventions.

The fall PTSA membership drive yielded 1,517 members for the 1964-65 year. Through monthly luncheon meetings of the executive board, programs were planned for the four formal meetings held at school. This Board represented all phases of school life, and included student officers, teachers and parents. Early last fall the PTSA held an open house at which parents met teachers. On two other meeting nights they followed their children's schedule, and learned more of the school curriculum.

With contributions and membership fees, the PTSA aided the school and community. PTSA provided funds for YRC activities, welfare cases, magazines for the guidance department, library telephone service, Girl Scouts, representatives to Boys' and Girls' State, Student Council activities, bonds awarded to two seniors, and Whirligig.

MRS. COLTRANE, Mr. Routh's secretary, watches while he checks one of the many important items handled through his office.

CHARM and sociability assure the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Routh to every school function

For thirty-two years GHS has towered as a strong educational force in Greensboro because of the significantly wise leadership of her principal, Mr. A. P. Routh. Uncompromising when standards were at stake, understanding and agreeable to our projects and activities, entirely devoted to his school and his community, he has guided the complex organization of Grimsley High School efficiently and smoothly.

Acting as catalyst in all GHS affairs, Mr. Routh has enthusiastically supported us at sports contests, concerts, plays, service club meetings, and special events such as school dances. He and his wife have willingly chaperoned summer excursions to Nassau, Florida, New York, Canada, New Orleans, and Georgia.

Whether teaching a class, coaching, supervising an activity or a student teacher, counseling, or lending a sympathetic ear, the 87 teachers of GHS were kept constantly busy by nearly 1,700 energetic and inventive students. Consequently teachers enjoyed leisure as much as students did. A hamburger fry at Guilford Club House in November found them heartily welcoming new teachers and amusing themselves with impromptu entertainment. Chefs grown expert through many such sociable gatherings were Mr. Routh, Mr. Glenn, and Mr. Bondanella.

Although informality was not altogether foreign to the classroom, the serious business of teaching stimulated our thinking and desire for knowledge. To better prepare students for college, teachers followed an improved curriculum plan with an enhanced composition lab program and an Advanced Placement History course.

Sophomores adapt to the "new worldliness" of GHS, melded into a unit by fierce studying, pencil pawning, and hotly-contested elections

600 adaptable Sophomores adjust to changing GHS

While the butterflies flapped their wings in our stomachs, we terrified Sophomores nervously entered our first year of "honest-to-goodness" high school. Oh, how utterly perplexing, confusing, bewildering, and baffling everything seemed! Then, slowly, gradually, things began to settle and an intelligible shape took form.

First, the traditional elections occurred. At the close of the installation of the officers, the president inaugurated the pencil sale project into which we plunged wholeheartedly. Successfully the goal was met. Also, as in previous years, we suffered when Silas' money was stolen and rejoiced when Gareth and Lynette rode happily into the sunset.

This year, however, brought the Class of '67 many new changes. For the first time, two years of history were required of us for graduation. In addition, it became compulsory to take two years of physical education, the second one consisting strictly of activity. Perhaps, our class will be best remembered as the first one to have the guiding assistance of the Buddy System. With these changes evolved a class — Our Class — distinct from all others.

Our Sophomore year has passed. In contrast to our feelings during the opening week of school, we now have grown accustomed to and, indeed, have become a vital part of GHS. What is more, we are now ready to take our parts next year as Juniors.

Sashed in Marshal ribbons or greased with play make-up, in-between Juniors, flaunting 10-karat class symbols, emerge as GHS leaders

Rings, plays, cars, and work symbolize Junior year

No longer hampered by sophomore stigma, we became Juniors, the working "middle class." Many of us found the first day of registration hectic and disheartening. Within a week, however, our schedules were in order and we were settled for the first semester.

Our class time was largely occupied with America — her history and literature — and baffling algebraic concepts. Utilizing tidbits of free time, we worked enthusiastically to produce the Junior Class Play, "Cheaper by the Dozen." Proceeds of the play financed the Junior section in the Whirligig.

In our official white sashes, we served as marshals for school performances and PTSA meetings.

The excitement of our Junior year included more than just work. The day the gold class rings arrived was one we will always remember. Trips to lunch with friends, football and basketball games, and school dances provided moments we will never forget. One hundred eighty days of work, a tenkarat treasure, a dozen "playful" memories — this was our Junior year. The "middle classmen" now stand on the brink of seniority.

It was not quite curtain time, but the Junior Marshals were ready to go — girls in their white dresses and boys in their dark suits. They congregated in the office to begin putting on their ribbons. The girls decided not to wear gloves, after finding several people without them. "Hey, do the ribbons go over the right shoulder or the left? I forgot. Let's wear them over the left."

It was close to performance time, and adults were still chattering in the hall. Tactfully, marshals began the awesome task of herding adults into the auditorium.

After collecting tickets, distributing programs, seating spectators, and watching a free performance, the marshals returned their ribbons until the next time their services were of avail.

Most prominent in the kalendoscope of GHS personalities, Seniors dominate campus society, pursuing final high school ambitions

Formative years' freshness distinguishes Seniors

We, the Senior Class of 1965, will soon be leaving Grimsley, but not without vivid memories of our last year. The largest class ever to descend upon GHS, we were crammed into classrooms where we weathered "Aprille shoures" and struggled through "Sloughs of Despond." Academics was our primary concern as the once nebulous dream of graduation became a tangible realization. We dominated advanced classes from Analytics and Physics to Virgil, as we prepared for grueling hours of College Boards. We pondered the future, applying to colleges or planning working careers. Not only did we distinguish ourselves in academics as Torchlight members and scholarship winners, but we also held the majority of first chairs in music and varsity sports positions.

In school government and organizations, we were limelighted in presidencies and active memberships, and our superlatives and Homecoming Court illustrated all-round excellence and exuberant school spirit. Selling ribbons exemplified our industriousness as we worked to enlarge the class treasury. Hours of practice and organization were successfully combined to produce a moving and colorful Christmas Pageant and a reminiscent Class Day.

With such an active year, time for introspection and reflection was limited, but we have matured with each activity and decision. We seniors are on the verge of the long-anticipated tomorrow, though nostalgically recalling fond memories of our life at GHS. Ours are the faltering steps onward, the reluctant good-byes.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS are, seated, Buie, Kellett, and Advisor Miss Maunula Wales. Standing: President Albright, Dempsey.

As commencement approached, we graduating seniors took a small fragment of time to reminisce about the three years which were so significant in the molding of our ambitions.

Our arrival as Sophomores necessitated the split schedule, for we were the largest class to descend upon GHS. The school year 1962-63 brought the onslaught of new girls' service clubs and the School Beautiful program. During our Junior year we pursued tradition, retaining at the same time the innovations which had challenged us as Sophomores. We shared the merriment of Twirp Day, zealously supported the newly formed Pep Board, and sold a record-breaking number of tickets to our class play, Meet Me in St. Louis.

NATIONAL MERIT SEMIFINALISTS are, seated, Skenes, Pultz, Bell, Grimes, House, Ferguson and Albright. Those standing are Cordle, Morgan, Levy, and Montgomery.

As Seniors we saw our final goals near realization. Looking back on our impressive Christmas Pageant and a memorable Class Day performance, golden moments which involved us in the whirlwind of Grimsley society, makes our past precious. Throughout our three years, we have dutifully earned the marks of excellence and recognition which are traditional to GHS classes.

Suddenly there was graduation and the future with its demanding task of reaching personal goals. We must move forward, but there is an invisible bond which links our hearts to the nostalgic past.

Here, within our class, is contrast, the contrast of a stilled past and a bustling present. We are grateful to GHS for its influence, and we will always be proud to hear, "... Greensboro Grimsley High."

Good lighting leads to better grades

When it's easier for young folks to see, it's easier for them to learn. For proper study lighting use at least a 100 watt

Acknowledgments

A Note of Thanks . . .

The tension of a frenzied rush subsided into expectant relief upon the completion of the 1965 Whirligig. Before Mr. Fleming takes our yearbook to press, we want to take the time to thank the many wonderful people who have made its publication possible.

At Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, MR. RALPH VANDYKE, MISS MOLLY FLANDERS, and their expert assistants and craftsmen deserve our sincere appreciation for the preparation of our invaluable dummy and the production of superior engraving. To MR. FRANK FLEMING and MR. EARL POWELL at Washburn Printing Company, we extend a warm "Thank you" for all the help and advice they gave us concerning the printing of our book.

To MR. CAROL MARTIN and MR. MALCOLM MILLER of Martin's Studio, we want to express our gratitude for the patience and cooperation they gave us regarding group and candid picture taking. At School Pictures Incorporated, we thank MR. ALFRED PICKEREL and MR. C. O. GENTRY for taking all student portraits. MR. TOM NORTHINGTON of the Greensboro Daily News and MR. JOHN CATHEY of the Greensboro Record supplied our sports section with numerous action shots, for which we are most grateful.

Here at Grimsley, faculty members have given generously their time and effort in helping us accomplish our objectives. Home-room teachers have aided us immeasurably by collecting money from yearbook sales and checking name lists. Special thanks go to MRS. MARGARET HADDEN and MRS. KATHRYN McENTIRE for use of their rooms and telephones. MISS IDA BELLE MOORE, MISS ROWENA MONTAGUE, and MRS. JESSIE COLTRANE, who helped us check student records, keep accurate financial records, and collect and tabulate our money for book sales, we offer our deepest gratitude. We give grateful thanks to MISS PEGGY JOYNER for extending theme deadlines as mid-February approached. To MR. A. P. ROUTH, our financial advisor, and MR. R. L. GLENN, we express our deepest appreciation for their aid and interest.

Most important of all is MISS VIRGINIA POWELL, our wonderful advisor, who so patiently guided us through the many phases of yearbook production — prodding the laggards, correcting our blundering mistakes, devoting countless hours to yearbook work. Without her ever-ready assistance Whirligig '65 would never have been!
